

A Community-Minded Company in a Great Community

Red River Technology Foundation

Red River is more than just a local employer. We're an active member of the community, proudly involved in a number of philanthropic endeavors and organizations. Our goal is to do all we can to positively affect the quality of life in our local community. We strive to be a good neighbor and to provide new opportunities for individual and community growth.

One of our key initiatives, the Red River Technology Foundation, aims to promote technology knowledge, education and interest among area students. This is accomplished through scholarships, donations of IT equipment as well as time and resources to schools, and hosting student workshops with technology manufacturers.

Encouraging local student participation in technology-related subjects helps us shape the long-term professional development of the technology business environment in this geographic area. By focusing on an education in technology, students position themselves for excellent career opportunities. We are proud to support the local workforce for generations to come.

The Red River Technology Foundation is a tax-exempt, non-profit organization funded primarily by our annual charity golf tournament. At these fun-filled events, representatives from our technology vendors and manufacturers pair up on the links with community leaders. The day culminates in a festive banquet where we present chosen students with their scholarships and awards. For more information, contact Kim Vacca at kim.vacca@redriver.com.

"The Foundation Golf Tournament supports students at the school with scholarships and awards; supports the school through the company's philosophy of forming an educational partnership with the community's education system; and supports the community by not only speaking about but also demonstrating real commitment that makes a difference. Can't get better than that!"

- Paul Couture, Stevens HS Principal

Red River Technology Foundation

Red River & the Claremont Community:

Our belief in the long-term economic success of the town is evident in our decision to be a partner in the redevelopment of the former Monadnock Mill building in Claremont, NH known as the Wainshal Mill on Water Street. We are renovating and occupying the top three floors of the old mill and turning the majestic building into a modern complex of offices and facilities including a state-of-the-art customer demonstration lab.

Red River strives to be a responsible corporate citizen. It is our objective to participate in the development and growth of our work community. As a charitable foundation and as individual citizens, we are dedicated to improving the quality of our community and its members. We understand that a community is only as strong as its members and pro-active participation is the critical component to a strong and vibrant society.

Red River employees are encouraged to get involved in community service and they've embraced the effort whole-heartedly. The staff actively submits ideas to the Employee Philanthropic Suggestion Box we created on our company Web portal and Red River matches employee time, money, food and other donations.

"As a company, we stress the importance of philanthropic involvement in the community.

We will award scholarships each year to students with a desire to pursue a technology focused educational path. This is just the beginning of Red River's contribution to the community in which we live and work."

- Rick Bolduc, Red River CEO

