Seamlessly Integrate the Collaborative Experience

Red River delivers messaging, mobility, video and collaboration tools that cut costs, strengthen customer relations and enable comprehensive communication regardless of the location of your team members, employees or partners. Our Cisco Systems® certifications allow us to provide the most advanced business video and TelePresence solutions, which allow everyone, everywhere to be more effective through face-to-face collaboration.

Increase Productivity

By integrating and optimizing disparate voice, video, data and mobility applications, Red River can help increase productivity across your organization. Unified Communications enables rich reliable collaborative experiences from one easy-to-use interface and eliminates misdirected communications that can undermine your overall effectiveness. Red River can even turn mobile devices into network extensions, so remote workers can be productive anywhere.

Introduce Video Capabilities

Business Enterprises as well as Healthcare and Military agencies often need to see and share information that can't be communicated easily via a traditional telephone call. Red River offers enhanced video and Web conferencing solutions that facilitate better team interactions, dynamically bringing together individuals, virtual workgroups and teams by allowing them to access and share video on the desktop, on the road and on-demand as easily as making a phone call.

Upgrade Or Replace Outdated Equipment

Tired of the complexity and costs of repairing and maintaining your antiquated time-division multiplexing (TDM), digital or PBX telephone system? Red River's certified experts are here to help you upgrade or replace outdated phone systems with Unified Communications solutions as well as provide additional applications to further expand your collaborative capabilities.

A COLLABORATIVE PROCESS

Red River engages our customers interested in Unified Communications and Collaboration using a proven four-phased approach: The ADIO Methodology (Assess, Design, Implement and Operate). We work with you to ASSESS your current network infrastructure as well as understand your business challenges and mission-critical goals. Red River engineers then work directly with your technical staff to DESIGN appropriate Unified Communications and Collaboration solutions. We use your approved design document to IMPLEMENT custom solutions designed specifically to help you achieve your primary goals. Finally, we help you OPERATE effectively by staying on after implementations to provide the necessary support and training you need to succeed.
